

French manicure has been a classic nail style for decades, but it continues to evolve with new trends and techniques. In Aurora, the French manicure scene is vibrant and constantly changing. Let's explore the top trends in French manicure Aurora that you need to know to stay ahead of the curve.

Subtle Color Accents

One of the latest trends in French manicure Aurora is the use of subtle color accents. Instead of the traditional white tips, nail artists are incorporating soft pastel shades or metallic accents to add a modern twist to the classic French manicure. This trend allows for a more personalized and unique look while still maintaining the elegance of the traditional style.

Geometric Designs

Geometric designs have also made their way into the French manicure scene in Aurora. Nail technicians are experimenting with intricate geometric patterns on the nail tips, using a combination of different colors and shapes to create a bold and eye-catching look. This trend adds a contemporary and artistic flair to the traditional French manicure, appealing to those who are looking for a more avant-garde style.

Negative Space French Manicure

The negative space French manicure is a trend that has been gaining popularity in Aurora. This style incorporates the natural nail color as part of the design, creating a minimalist and chic look. By leaving a portion of the nail bare, this trend adds a modern and edgy twist to the classic French manicure, making it a favorite among those who prefer a more understated and sophisticated nail look.

Textured Finishes

Textured finishes are another top trend in French manicure Aurora. Nail artists are experimenting with different textures, such as matte, glossy, and even 3D elements, to add depth and dimension to the traditional French manicure. This trend allows for a more tactile and visually interesting nail look, appealing to those who are seeking a more unique and unconventional style.
